Killarney Homes has been named one of Australia's top Energy Efficient Builders in the 2011 Australian HIA Greensmart Awards.

Killarney Homes has taken out second spot in the Energy Efficient Housing Category of the HIA Greensmart Awards, and in doing so has been recognised as one of Australia's leading builders in Energy Efficient Design and Construction.

The winners were announced on Thursday, 18 August 2011 at a Gala Function at Crown Casino, Melbourne after a three month application and judging process, designed to encourage and promote Energy Efficient Housing in Australia.

"The HIA Greensmart Awards were developed to recognise a new breed of Australian builder," said Michael Moriarty, Managing Director, Killarney Homes.

"The 2011 winners can be characterised by optimism (coupled with pragmatism), relentless ambition (but never at all costs), an intuitive knowledge of the new economy and an awareness of the bigger picture".

Judging of the 2011 Greensmart Awards took into account far more than mere visual appeal. The judging process involved cost effective environmental features and practices, innovation and sustainability. From the field of 10 Finalists across Australia, Killarney Homes defied the isolated nature of the Northern Territory to score second place, only missing out top spot to the Multi-National Mirvac Corporation.

"This award is the culmination of four years of auditing and fine tuning design. A field of from Australia wide was repeatedly examined and cross-examined, before being culled to the top 10. Together, all the finalists we were against represented the most promising builders in Australia," said Moriarty.
